

NOTE TO ALL CUSTOMERS

The Battery Regulations

Each year, as a nation we throw away millions and millions of batteries. Most of these batteries are currently sent to landfill, where the dangerous metals and chemicals contained within these batteries could leak out, damage the environment and cause a potential health hazard.

The UK government, acting under a European Directive has agreed to ban the land-filling of these batteries and send them for treatment and recycling – with immediate effect.

To help you dispose of your waste portable batteries in an environmental and safe manor, Arco has introduced a free of charge waste battery disposal service into each of its trade counters. If you have waste batteries that you wish to dispose of, please bring them to one of our trade counters where we will be happy to dispose of them for you.

Note:- this only applies to the portable range of batteries sold by Arco, and excludes automotive or heavy industrial batteries.

If you have any questions, please ask a member of staff instore to help you.
